

History

Since 1863, South Seaville Camp Meeting has been a place to worship and serve God in Cape May County. Founded by Methodists who designed an ambitious site plan, with hundreds of numbered lots grouped in rectangular blocks and arranged around parks. By 1877, 90 cottages had been built and 60 tents pitched. These were assembled around a central meeting place. This meeting place became what is now the Tabernacle set in the center of the camp. Today, many of original cottages remain, including several two-story, two-room balloon-frame cottages with corner pegs, as well as larger steep-roofed dwellings with Gothic windows and Victorian gingerbread detailing. South Seaville Camp Meeting remains a wooded retreat Christians enjoy each season.

South Seaville Camp Meeting

Our Annual Camp Meeting

South Seaville Camp Meeting's (SSCM) annual camp meeting takes place the last two full weeks of every July. During this time, we not only gather for services on Sunday mornings, but we also have an inspirational preacher Sunday through Friday nights in the Tabernacle. Monday through Friday mornings, Bible Study is held in the Tabernacle, Vacation Bible School for children in Howe Hall, as well as a Youth program for teenagers in the Cox Center. There are activities throughout the two weeks such as our Women's Day, Christmas in July, Sunday dinners, and our annual family picnic which includes BBQ and games. Each evening ends with a visit to the Uarda Betts ice cream store in Grove Hall.

Cottages and Cottagers

SSCM has about 90 cottages throughout the camp. Many of the cottages have been owned by the same families for generations. There are opportunities for ownership, however, to do so, one must become a member and be ready to join our SSCM family. More information about cottages, cottage sales, and requirements for owning a cottage can be found on our website SouthSeavilleCampMeeting.org.

Spiritual Retreats for Many Sized Groups

SSCM has accommodations for small or large groups from April through October. We have something for everyone, from our larger sleeping facilities – Oak Hall and Wright Hall – to the quaint Hospitality House, along with a dining room at Grove Hall. We are within minutes of area beaches and are the perfect peaceful location for any spiritual retreat. Please contact us for availability and more information.
